About the Business Environmental Resource Center

A division of the Office of Economic Development, the Business Environmental Resource Center serves the business community seeking regulatory guidance, permitting assistance, and compliance essentials from a non-regulatory agency. Through BEREC's network of environmental partnerships and resources, the business community can gain industry specific insight into the environmental considerations when starting a business. The Sustainable Business Program is a sponsored program administered by Sacramento County that recognizes businesses for their exemplary efforts in environmental sustainability, prioritizing environmental regulatory compliance, and implementing new eco-friendly initiatives.
